Milan's Piazza Giuseppe Missori. Adjacent to Piazza Duomo and Torre Velasca, just steps from the city's main square, this elegant building, built in the late 1950s by architect Giovanni Muzio, offers a fully renovated, elegant shop for lease. The building features two storefront windows, a concierge service, 24-hour video surveillance, and three elevators.

The marble-floored property extends over multiple levels, connected by a convenient and safe internal staircase.

Ground floor: bright shop of approximately 42 sq m. - Mezzanine level: mezzanine with bathroom and window - First floor: room of approximately 21 sq m. with bathroom, balcony, and private entrance - Basement level: workshop with window of approximately 71 sq m. with a second private entrance.

The heating system is centralized with radiant floor panels, while the air conditioning system is independent.

The entrance to the building is characterized by the portico that continues to Piazza Generale Armando Diaz.
